

Irish Daily Mail
July 10th, 2007

WiFi phone research

IRISH researchers have received a grant to develop a new low-cost mobile phone system that uses the internet.

The development will be carried out at the Centre for Telecommunications Value Chain Research in Trinity College Dublin.

The system allows callers to roam and pay-as-you go wherever wireless internet is available. The €400,000 funding comes from Enterprise Ireland.